Your Responsibilities

You will work on building the PXL Daego web platform using microservices architecture
You will implement, test and deliver new features within a cross-functional agile team
You challenge the status quo and continuously improve architecture, code and tools to ensure high quality software delivery
Take responsibility and ownership for the solution, from development to delivery to operations in a DevOps environment

Your Qualifications

Excellent knowledge of HTML, CSS, Web and UI trends
Experienced in Javascript, Typescript and Node.js
Experience or at least familiarity with UI/UX, good eye for visuals
Experience with frontend frameworks like Angular or Vue.js, ideally React
Experience with one or more programming languages Java, C++, Python
Experience with Linux administration and Database design and maintenance
Hands on experience designing and implementing RESTfull backend services
Practice in clean code, TDD, pair programming, CI/CD
Experience with agile methodologies and pronounced agile
Desire to build state-of-the-art, modern, high-performing web-applications
Good to have: experience with Open Source
A degree in computer science or equivalent practical experience
Fluency in English

What We Offer

An appealing location in Zurich, close to the lake
A unique opportunity to help build a global product platform in a truly entrepreneurial environment
A challenging and rewarding job with an immediate impact on PXL's success
